5 Things You Need to Know this Week

1. New Website to Launch Next Week!

GSAR and CNYIS are excited to announce the launch of our totally re-designed cnyREALTOR.com, launching Tuesday July 18th! GSAR and CNYIS task force members' goal is to remain competitive with the national sites we all know, but keep a local feel, local expertise, and accuracy! Members have experienced great value in the collective exposure for all members listings cnyrealtor.com has brought over the years. We encourage you to visit the site, use the new search experience, and check out the member side as well. The mobile version of the site has a cool "swipe left and right" feature for consumers to browse properties. On the desktop and mobile versions, users can save properties to their favorites, so they can keep a running list of those properties they are interested in! In order to save properties, they will need to register with just an e-mail address and name. We do not see those e-mail addresses or have access to them on our end, they are housed within the system for the sole purpose of allowing consumers to save their searches. We are giving the option at the very bottom of the site to sign up for a monthly newsletter from cnyrealtor.com. We will pass on housing related stories from NYSAR and NAR, as well as any local housing issues.

Check it out and let us know your feedback!

2. Save the Date!

GSAR's REALTOR® Expo hosted by the Oswego County Chapter will be held Thursday, August 17th at the River Vista Center located at 801 S. 1st Street, Fulton from 4:00 - 7:00 pm. Details coming next week!

3. A Job Well Done!

As a result of our combined efforts, both houses of the New York State Legislature have passed the REALTOR-supported NY First Home bill, a proposal to establish a first time homebuyer savings account program. RPAC played an instrumental role in making these strides. We will now shift our efforts toward Governor Cuomo to urge him to make this the law of the land here in New York!
