

Protect Yourself from IDENTITY THEFT

One out of every four adults will have their identity stolen – are you next?

Identity theft is one of the fastest-growing crimes in the United States and can happen at any time, anywhere, and to anyone. Don't wait to fall victim to identity theft – protect yourself today by following these tips from NYSAR Member Perks partner IdentityForce.

Be wary of phone and email scams targeting personal and financial information. Verify the legitimacy of requests before responding.

Set up a hold on your mail services while you're traveling so criminals can't steal personal information from your mailbox.

Check your financial information often, including credit reports, bank statements, and any other notices you receive.

Shred anything containing personal information, such as credit card offers, financial statements, and other mail before discarding it.

Secure financial documents and personal records in a safe location.
